EOS INTERNATIONAL GRANTS SCHOLARSHIPS FOR SLA CERTIFICATE PROGRAM
EOS will provide scholarships for their clients enrolled in knowledge management classes

(Carlsbad, CA – June 10, 2008) EOS International, the innovative and award-winning library automation and knowledge management solutions provider, announced today that it has partnered with the Special Libraries Association (SLA) to offer EOS clients scholarships for SLA's Knowledge Management (KM) Certificate Program. EOS chose to provide scholarships for clients enrolled in SLA's Knowledge Management Certificate Program to help them advance their skills and professional development in the knowledge management discipline.

"EOS is committed to helping our clients manage the daily demands from their organization," stated Tony Saadat, CEO of EOS International. "In partnering with the SLA to deliver these scholarships, EOS provides another solution for our clients integrating knowledge management into their current EOS solutions."

"Offering a scholarship for SLA's Knowledge Management certificate program to clients demonstrates a strong dedication to the advancement of information professionals in the rapidly expanding KM field," said Janice R. Lachance, CEO of SLA. "This is a revolutionary new way to provide enhanced services to the end users. We are thrilled to have EOS as a partner, and it is great to see that they are so deeply invested in their client's needs. This scholarship program through Click U is further proof of that commitment."

About SLA's Click University

Click U is the first and only online learning community focusing on continuing professional education for librarians, information professionals, and knowledge workers. Click U provides SLA members with state-of-the-art learning opportunities in partnership with today's information industry superstars. Courses on software and technology, management, communications, and leadership are designed to enhance the skills acquired through traditional library education. Click U also provides accessible certificate programs for information professionals looking to take the next step into a new career and utilize their traditional information skills in fields such as competitive intelligence, knowledge management, and copyright management.
