Dear Ms. Zamora:

On behalf of the 5,000 members of the American Association of Law Libraries (AALL), I extend sincere congratulations to the members of the Special Libraries Association on the occasion of your Association's century of service to the library community.

SLA's activities in support of continuing education, advocacy and knowledge management in the library sciences has helped to foster a dynamic and vibrant community of librarians who serve in special libraries throughout the world.

AALL members value the collaborative relationship we have with SLA on issues of importance to libraries, including open access, copyright and intellectual property law. We look forward to continuing that relationship as you begin your next 100 years of service.

We commend SLA and its 11,000 members for reaching this important milestone and wish you continued success and achievement in support of special librarians throughout the global marketplace.

Sincerely,

James E. Duggan
President
