

The Role of the Library In Food Safety Information Tasks In a Corporate Setting

Timothy Gaus
Heinz Corporate Information Center
H.J. Heinz Company

Background

The Corporate Information Center (CIC) is the modern edition of a company chemistry library founded by H.J. Heinz in 1903. This solo library is a part of Heinz North America, but services the global company. Now under the Global Nutrition department, the CIC started its food safety resource while under the Quality and Food Safety department.

Need

A way for company food safety executives to have easy access to global food recall information to include in reports and presentations, and to demonstrate Heinz' excellent record in food safety
