OCLC Inc	10/14	2:45 PM- 3:15 PM	Meryl Cinnamon	OCLC Update	Join Meryl Cinnamon, OCLC Member Relations Liaison, for an OCLC Update. Despite the challenges this year has put on libraries, the OCLC cooperative continues to move forward in timely and useful ways. We are making advances with WorldShare Management Services, an advanced, cloud-based library services platform. The EZproxy authentication service has new patron privacy enhancements—and for EZproxy hosted users, the new EZproxy Analytics service is available through a separate subscription. We are expanding our “Library on-demand” initiative to offer intuitive discovery, a personalized experience, and a powerful network for resource access. And as the COVID-19 pandemic persists, OCLC is sharing research-based test results via the REALM project that libraries can use to inform their reopening plans.
IEEE Xplore Digital Library	10/15	1:30 PM- 2:30 PM	Jennifer Fong	How Libraries Can Bring Peer-Reviewed Online Learning Courses to their Organization	2020 has provided unprecedented challenges when it comes to research and teaching, as remote work and schooling increases reliance on web resources that vary in quality and validity. Vetting resources is time consuming, and this is where engineering libraries can play a huge role. By offering online eLearning from IEEE that is peer-reviewed and globally relevant, faculty, students, and engineers can streamline their efforts and find trusted content with just a few clicks.
